

Soft Revolution

It`s not easy to fight you through the day
You`ve learned your lessons for life to get what you deserve
You don`t know how to act in a different way
And going through your selfmade hell

You`re living in fear of making a change
Although it isn`t satisfying how it is
You need to feel the power that comes
By leaving the old road

Don`t catch yourself in a steely cage
With melodies that aren`t alive
Don`t stand in the river that leads to your luck
Move your body and swim

You hate this snow falling
Cause you live in anger that someday you
Don`t find your home and your children calling
And you don`t stand the pressure
That someone`s asking you to do it
Different than the others

There is healing voice and it`s calling for a change
Take these stiff pictures off your mind, let revolution rule
